

Friday, 16 August 2019

9.30	Registration: Long Room Hub, First Floor
10.00	Welcome and Opening Address
10.15	Panel 1 Brid McGrath How to get a charter: New Ross's negotiations 1611- 2 Linda Doran New Ross in the seventeenth century – stability and conflict Gráinne Doran Shining a light on early town governance in New Ross – enhancing user access to the town's oldest municipal minutes	Panel 2 Evan Bourke Layers of reception of early modern women writers: a digital approach Jason McElligott Bram Stoker, the Spanish Armada and the outbreak of the Ulster Rebellion
11.45	Tea and Coffee: Ideas Space
12.15	Panel 3 Brian Mac Cuarta Irish soldiers visit Loreto and Rome, c.1609 Amy Harris New insights into Thomas Dingley's journal of Irish Observations (1680-1) John Carrigy Hakluyt and Ireland: Negotiating the Irish past and present in the Principall Navigations	Panel 4 John McCafferty State Papers, State formation: anxiety and the SP 60-63 archive Neil Johnston "Without them the true history of Ireland never can be written": John T. Gilbert, James Morrin and the Irish patent rolls dispute, 1863-65 Alan Kelly The British Library manuscript of the 'Voyage of Sir Richard Edgewcombe' (1488)
13.45	Lunch: Ideas Space
14.30	Panel 5 Marc Ritchie and Nichola Matthews Hiding in plain sight – uncovering the architectural legacy of 17th century Dublin Antoine Giacometti Seventeenth century high society - material culture from Rathfarnham Castle excavations 2014-2018 Margaret Keane Rocque writ large - sources for the identification of early buildings	Panel 6 Feliks Levin Formulation of Irish consensual identity in early modern Ireland and Geoffrey Keating's Foras Feasa ar Éirinn Simon Egan West Highland and island dynasties in Ireland, c.1490-c.1570 John Young The Scottish parliament and the 1641 rebellion
16.00	Tea and Coffee: Ideas Space
16.30	Opening Plenary Address Dr Annaleigh Margey, Dundalk Institute of Technology Title TBA
17.30	Book Launch and Wine Reception, Ideas Space
18.30	Conference Dinner, KC Peaches Nassau Street

Saturday, 17 August 2019

9.30	Registration: Long Room Hub, First Floor
10.00	Panel 7 Coleman Dennehy The political observances of the second earl of Cork, as evidenced in his diaries Patrick Little I went a hunting': mixing sport and business in Cromwellian Ireland. Evidence from the second earl of Cork's diary Ann-Maria Walsh The Boyle women and the importance of the local in their life writings	Panel 8 David Heffernan The Remembrancer and the Deputy: Robert Legge, Sir William Fitzwilliam and government corruption in late Elizabethan Ireland Melissa Shiels Gifts of apparel and Tudor political gift-giving strategies Caroline Newcombe Tudor legal imperialism in Ireland
11.30	Tea and Coffee: Ideas Space
12.00	Panel 9 James LeDuc Oaths and the struggle for sovereignty in Ireland: Tudor political theology and interpolity order, 1534-46 James Greaney The use of Laudabiliter in "New English" histories of Ireland: conquest and moral degeneracy in the Irish past, c.1640-91 Raymond Hylton Contributions and controversies? Extra-national diversity and anti-immigrant sentiment in Tudor/Stuart Ireland, c.1551-1714	Panel 10 Kenneth Nicholls Teig O'Brien of Dromore and his descendants: some neglected O'Briens of the 17th century Brendan Twomey 'Putting money out at interest': Clerical debt in the 17th century Stuart Keogh Coded confidences: French correspondence with Jacobite Ireland, 1689-1690
13.30	Lunch: Ideas Space
14.15	Panel 11 Daniel Gosling The De Renzi Deeds: documents relating to Ireland in TNA WALE 31 John Cronin The Marquis of Ormond's military campaign of spring 1643 and the impact of archivists upon it Brendan Scott Building biographies: assembling the life of Sir Stephen Butler	Panel 12 Stephen Ellis Siegecraft on the Tudor frontier: the siege of Dublin, 1534, and the crisis of the Kildare rebellion Stephen Carroll Urban reform in early seventeenth-century Ireland Michael Twomey My Little Empire – Richard Boyle's Youghal
15.45	Tea and Coffee: Ideas Space
16.15	Panel 13 David Brown The world of Gaspar Chillan Karen Holland Edmund Leach: New England merchant, London pamphleteer and Athlone commissioner Bethany Marsh The 1641 Irish rebellion and the emotional dimensions of displacement and migration	Panel 14 Alma O'Donnell Irish exorcists in the Catholic Reformation Ultan Lally After this our exile: rosary inculcation in seventeenth-century Connacht John Kelly What happened to the Carlow Huguenots?
17.45	Closing Plenary Address Dr Susan Flavin, Trinity College Dublin Food and the lower orders in early modern Ireland: sources, problems and possibilities	